FYI,

I delivered a Hepa Vac to the Troy High School on Monday, December 5th, and gave to the Head custodian and the janitors, as directed by Peggy.

I had arranged with the Head custodian to meet at the auditorium at 6:30 pm.

When I brought the vacuum in, the custodians asked if it was to be used after we did our clean up. I told them that it was to be used from now on. I told them that when I came to the Parents of Seniors night a month ago to order my son's cap, gown, etc., that I had seen a pile of vermiculite that was swept up in the corner. One janitor said, "I sweep up a pile every day and didn't know what it was." The three janitors said that they weren't told of any vermiculite in the auditorium ceiling, that they had been told that it was below the auditorium and was going to be cleaned up next year. They said that the cheerleaders practice cheerleading everyday on the auditorium and that is probably why there is so much on the floor. The three janitors are very upset that they weren't told that there was vermiculite in the auditorium.

I did observe a ceiling tile that is about to fall out of the ceiling and it looks like it needs some attention.

Ron Kern is the head custodian and said that he would be calling Peggy this week.

Thanks,
Linda
